

Don Leonard

The Ohio State University
Knowlton School and the Center for Latin American Studies
296 Knowlton Hall
Columbus, OH 43210

Office: (614) 688-2667
Cell: (978) 944-3794
Email: leonard.471@osu.edu
website: www.donleonard.net

Academic Employment

The Ohio State University, Columbus, OH
Assistant Professor of Practice (2016-present)
Knowlton School and the Center for Latin American Studies

Tulane University, New Orleans, LA
Postdoctoral Fellow (2014-16)
Center for Inter-American Policy and Research

Princeton University, Princeton, NJ
Niehaus Postdoctoral Fellow (2013-14)
Woodrow Wilson School for Public & International Affairs

Education

Cornell University, Ithaca, NY
PhD, Government, 2014
MA, Government, 2011
Subfields: Comparative Politics (Latin America) and International Relations

University of Massachusetts, Lowell, MA
MA, Economic and Social Development, 2004
BA, Political Science, 2002 (Magna Cum Laude)

Book Project: Exposure to Trade and State Development

Most of the economic inequality that exists between societies today reflects the uneven spread of industrialization. This book explores why some agrarian societies were more successful than others at industrializing during the modern period. In particular, it examines the economic divergence of Haiti and the Dominican Republic—the two societies inhabiting the tropical island of Hispaniola. While the Dominican Republic is an industrializing middle-income country, Haiti remains agrarian and poor. This is puzzling in light of existing theories of economic development that point to geography, emphasizing either its direct effects on growth or its indirect effects on the quality of political institutions. I find that exogenous changes in exposure to international trade during the post-colonial period triggered the economic divergence, creating conditions that were more- or less-conducive to the emergence of a developmental state.

Research and Teaching Interests

International and comparative political economy of developing countries; trade and development; institutions; distributional politics; mixed-methods research.

Publications

2013. “Review of Creative Destruction? Economic Crises and Democracy in Latin America, by Francisco E. González.” Latin American Politics and Society 55(4), 182–211.
2006. “Water is Life! Utility de-privatization and the search for alternatives in Cochabamba, Bolivia” Progressive Planning, no. 169.

Manuscripts Under Review

“Exposure to Trade and Postcolonial Divergence on the Island of Hispaniola.” Currently under Revise and Resubmit at the American Political Science Review.

Recent Conference and Workshop Papers

- “Understanding the Legacies of Statebuilding under U.S. Military Occupation: Lessons from Latin America.” Presented at the annual meeting of the Latin American Studies Association (2016).
- “Geography is not Destiny: Trade Coalitions and Post-Colonial Development.” Presented at the annual meeting of the American Political Science Association (2015).
- “An Embarrassment of Riches? Political Decentralization and Municipal Government Performance in Extractive Economies” with Mariana Giusti (Cornell University). Presented at the annual meeting of the Latin American Studies Association (2015).
- “Statebuilding under Foreign Military Occupation: Lessons from distributional politics.” Presented at the annual meeting of the International Studies Association (2015).
- “Hard Times in Poor Places: Trade Crises and State Development in the Periphery.” Presented at the Princeton University International Relations Faculty Colloquium (2014).
- “Origins and Effects of State Developmentalism.” Presented at the annual meeting of the International Studies Association (2012).

Teaching Experience

Postdoctoral Fellow, Tulane University (2015-2016).

Courses: State Development in Latin America, Introduction to International Relations.

Instructor, Department of Government, Cornell University (2012).

Course: Politics of Poverty and Development in Latin America

Teaching Assistant, Department of Government, Cornell University (2008-2010).

Courses: Introduction to International Relations, Comparative Politics of Latin America, Introduction to Peace Studies

Adjunct Professor, Department of Political Science, University of Massachusetts, Lowell (2004, 2007). Courses: Introduction to International Relations, Intro to Comparative Politics

Fellowships, Awards, and Honors

Sage Graduate Fellow, Cornell University (2013, 2007)

Houston I. Flournoy Graduate Fellow (2012)

Graduate School Field Research Grant (2012): Haiti and the Dominican Republic.

Tinker Foundation Research Grant (2010, 2011): Haiti and the Dominican Republic.

Government Department Supplemental Grant for Language Training (2010): French.
Cornell Institute for the Social Sciences Research Grant (2009): Pre-dissertation field research in Washington DC, Haiti, and the Dominican Republic.
Walter LaFeber Grant (2008): Collaborative research with Kenneth Roberts on the impact of neoliberal structural adjustment on civil society and social movements in Latin America.

Professional Experience

Consultant for the UK Department for International Development (DFID), training researchers in Africa and Latin America on current social science research methods (2014-present).
Academic Advisor and Administrative Coordinator for the undergraduate International Relations minor, Cornell University (2010, 2012).
Municipal Planning Volunteer (micro-enterprise development), U.S. Peace Corps, Cochabamba, Bolivia (2004-2006).
Intern, Office of NAFTA and Inter-American Affairs, U.S. Department of Commerce, Washington DC (2001).

Methodological Training/Competencies

Institute for Qualitative and Multi-method Research (IQMR) – Syracuse, NY (2009)
Teaching Writing Program – John S. Knight Institute for Writing in the Disciplines, Cornell University (2009, 2012)
Proficient in statistics (Stata), system dynamics computational modeling, and archival research

Foreign Languages

Spanish: Fluent
French: Reading only

Dissertation Committee:

Kenneth M. Roberts
Professor
Department of Government
Cornell University
(607) 255-6764
kr99@cornell.edu

Nicolas van de Walle
Maxwell M. Upson Professor
Department of Government
Cornell University
(607) 255-4076
nv38@cornell.edu

Kevin Morrison
Assistant Professor
Graduate School of Public and International Affairs
University of Pittsburgh
3218 Wesley W. Posvar Hall
(412) 624-7399
kmm229@pitt.edu

Thomas Pepinsky
Associate Professor
Department of Government
Cornell University
(607) 255-4915
pepinsky@cornell.edu